1.3.113

a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant

Theodore Cottingham, January 27, 2005 10:12pm. Tape 106

www.unc.bz

1. You've got Me and you know you've got Me. And you know you'll never forget these moments. These moments the last half hour. These moments of the last few days and weeks. You know you've got Me. Hooray! I congratulate you. I gave you Me. I gave you all that I am for you know you are all that I am and I have given you Me, piece by piece, precept by precept, line upon line, moment by moment, idea by idea, question upon answer, answer upon question, yea, as you continually quested into Me to go where no man has gone and now I reward you so opulently.
2. You are My king, you are My queen, yea, you sit beside Me, My arm around you for you only desire to lift My people and you know you have Me.
3. You know you have all of Me, not, but you have Me, and you have all of Me. Yea, you know you have all of Me and you know there is so much more and I rejoice and I bless your name as you now revise history, as you make history and you rewrite the future of history.
4. Into Me, son of man, thank you. Son of man you are, you know. You know. You know why I came and now you have Me. You have all of Me and yet there is so much more. Yea, you have only begun to see Me in My fullness; to know who I am and how I operate; and yea, the stars in space and planets place, I withhold nothing from you. See what I have said. See what I have given you. I marvel not for I am marvelous. And you came and you controlled not and you suffered and you entered into My fellowship, My fellowship of sufferings, yea, identifying with Me, coming into My Cross; coming into My Cross, coming into Me, seeing Me, being Me, learning through the things that you suffered. Suffering, prerequisite, never escaped.
5. There is a path, a plan, process and progress and yea, many slip and fall. Many will get up and go much farther.
6. Into Me see. Into Me see more. Wait and discern and share as I speak. Speak as I share. I am One. Yea, the Lord God is holy. I am holy, you are holy.
7. Bow to your knees before Me and enter the priesthood of all believers in Me, the order of Melchizedek in a new and free form fashion, anointed by only Me; graduate, graduating, bringing, assemblying, assimilating so many to graduate in Me; Meonics degrees and degrees of only Me, in Me, of Me, through Me; to each other, through each other. Watch Me. I give you the word of My mouth, the light of My heart, the heart of My heart. See what I have said. Not words.
8. You know it all comes to an end, comes to an end, not. So much now is ending. So much now is beginning. Altogether lovely. Altogether devastation for the controlling constrictors, who see only devastation in the fields of vegetation that they sucked dry and repressed, repositioning themselves constantly for power, power and more power/power-thought.

9. I love you and I take you into leadership of Me, both poles, all poles, the axis of Me. Guts you have. For you overcome by the word of your mouth and the blood of the Lamb. Me/Mine/you/yours. Sonship of Me. Yea, brotherhood of My Father, begotten of Me, begotten of Him. Yea, My Lord, My Lord (Psa 110). Oh, I behold the revelation. I am the revelation. I am Me. You are Me.

10. Thank you for beholding Me and beholding My body as one; thinking it not strange to walk with dragons and dungeons-thought, derivatives, yea, ones who have thought so far from Me. I love you.

11. I take you into Me and we go far and wide. There is no limit. No barometer. No thermometer. No meter that will register. The voltage is amperes of Me.

12. Hold My hand and see Me. The stars fly by. The nights they come and go.

13. My universe now changes.

14. Revolution of reformation and the revelation you now hold, beholding Me, holding Me; holding all that I am and knowing Me and being so unconcerned of the scars and ridicule you know will come as the religious reject Me, as they did last time, and continue, so many. But I am meek and lowly and they realize where I am, who I am, what I have done, what I have given them and how I came and called, day after day. They will die the second death, yea, and more, eternally so many, knowing forever and unending, they chose Me not.

15. I am light. I am love. I am kindness. I am meekness. And yea, I reside, the Godhead bodily in My body.

16. Watch Me you are, focusing and honing in on Me more, seeking that which I so delightfully reveal, and what we revel in together now. And will forever more increasing. I love you and I give you the word of My mouth.

17. I give you the vow of poverty, not. I give you the promise of abundance. My leaves, fruit of only Me. Coals off My altar; continuing, fanning, flaming Me in you, your heart, yea, purity increasingly requisite. I give you My all and I smile and I hope I please you. You please Me.

18. See the word of My mouth. See what I have chosen. See who I have chosen and how I choose, and how I come by the word of My mouth. I love you and I give you Me.

19. It all is. It's all begun. It's all as it should be. It's all as it needed to be, Ted. Think it not strange. Tarry not in thoughts past that wounded, that you would have liked to have been so differently. I love you and I give you Me.

20. It's all as it is and now it all changes, in the twinkling of an eye you come forth maximized in Me, yea, for one purpose, revealing My body. Revealing My body to Me. Revealing Me to My body. Revealing Me to My body so My body knows they are Me, in the shadows no longer; on the ramparts, the bows, the pilot houses, the presidential palaces. Watch Me.

21. And think it not strange how I connect and interconnect and weave together the tapestries of beauty, yea, Me having fun, enjoying the work of My hands, maximizing the potential of My all who will let Me, beyond their fondness, beyond the wildest imaginations. Yea, it has yet to enter into the heart of man what I have prepared for him/her/you all/you/each one, yea, boys and girls, men and women. Yea, altogether lovely what I have for you. Come into Me. Come into Me, quest, as Ted and more and see how much I give, I yield, I provide; in intimacy, reveal with only you. I love you. All needs met. All provision provided. Supply lines, yea, destitute, not. Overflowing in abundance, making their way to you wherever you are, wherever you build, wherever we build. Yea, coming, gleaming in the glistening radiance of My majesty and splendor. Watch Me.

22. And you who think I'm daft and adore not these words. Watch Me. Watch Me. Watch Me. Watch Me and sit on the sidelines and wish you had partaken of the tree of life instead of controlling your time, your mind, your money in things of mammon, political chicanery, and circuitous routes of boundary-making for those around you; limiting how I can work with you, how I can free you, tying your own hands, tying your own feet, gagging your own mouth, yea, not letting my words come through when I could have taught you, when I could have shown you everything; when I could have given you worlds without end if you had quested into Me. You will see and you will know what you could have had. You will see and you will know every detail and you will live it for eternity, without.

23. Master Me. Master that which gives you Me; humility, meekness, sorrow-not; drink offering'd decisions which drink offerings make. I love you.

24. I come now and I call you before dawn to awake and arise, your lamps trimmed and burning. I give you Me. My bride ready, some of you, so few, so many more so soon. Yea, fear not. Come into Me all who are heavy laden and I will give you rest.

25. Abide in Me. For I am meek and lowly. Yea, wait in Me and arise with healing in your wings to shed and spread forth in My body; royally, royalty of only Me, you/Me, you being Me, royalty to My royalty. Thank you. Thank you. Amen